

Nadirah Addison has been an Educator for over 25 years and an Assistant Principal for the past 4 years. I have taught at Islamic, Montessori, and Multicultural Schools in and around the Philadelphia area since 1996. My background and experience are in both Education and Business Management. My training and experience are in Literacy; 7 Intelligences; Agriculture; Curriculum Integration; Cross-Curricular Education; Humanities; Child Development; Virtual Learning Coach; Conflict Resolution; Data Entry; and Business.

As an Educator, I am aware of the challenges that our young people are facing as they embark on educational pursuits. The obstacles to overcome and choices to be made are in place each day. From a Business standpoint, it is imperative that the nuances of growing up are addressed and our young women are presented with alternatives and support to assist them in meeting the challenges of adolescence in a thoughtful and proactive manner.

Nadirah Addison is a member of the Advisory Board of the J.E.S.S.I.C.A Cares Girls Empowerment Program. The mission for this organization contains principles on which I have based my life's movement and the nurturing of my children. I am a wife, the mother of six children, and the grandmother of two. Education and Empowerment have always been stressed in my household and served as a motivation for my children to strive to be the best they can be and reach goals that shaped good character, strong work ethic, and God Consciousness.
